

The rules

Author: Administrator User<jgaudel@3mconcept.com>

The Clair de Lune agency is running a free game with no obligation to purchase, from 20/09/2010 to 10/10/2010 included. The competition is for specialist wine bloggers of adult age. It involves: identifying yourself on the website www.secret-wine.com in order to receive three wine samples; tasting them; and naming online the appellation(s) of the three unlabelled wines. Each entrant can play once only. The main winner will be the first blogger to give all the correct answers (date and time of the posted message is considered as proof). The winners will be advised by email. Any prize won cannot be exchanged for another prize or for its value in cash.

The Clair de Lune agency is running a free game with no obligation to purchase, from 20/09/2010 to 10/10/2010 included. The competition is for specialist wine bloggers of adult age. It involves: identifying yourself on the website www.secret-wine.com in order to receive three wine samples; tasting them; and naming online the appellation(s) of the three unlabelled wines. Each entrant can play once only. The main winner will be the first blogger to give all the correct answers (date and time of the posted message is considered as proof). The winners will be advised by email. Any prize won cannot be exchanged for another prize or for its value in cash.